BOTTLE OF POLISH STARTS BIG BLAZE

Commercial Club Building is Nearly Destroyed.

Bank Wall of Front Office Covered With Flames When They Are Discovered.

VALUABLE PAMPHLETS BURNED

But for the fact that fire, which originated, it is believed, in the explosion of furniture cleaning fluid, started at an early hour, the Paducah Commercial club building, 130 South Fourth street, would have been entirely destroyed last night. Several members of the Traveling Men's club were in their rooms upstairs, and Simon Hecht, secretary of the T. P. A., rushed down and gave the alarm. The fire department extinguished the blaze after damage amounting to $188 had been wrought.

There was no one in the Commercial club rooms last night, and the fire originated between the wall and a cabinet, containing valuable papers and pamphlets of the organization. A bottle of furniture polish had been left on a pile of papers. This seems to be the only clue to the origin. A coincidence throws some light on the matter. When the fire occurred several weeks ago in the office of C. E. Jennings, real estate dealer, in the Fraternity building, it was discovered that a bottle of some kind of polish had been left standing in the spot where the fire started.

The fire last night endured the whole back wall of the front office. Almost completely ruined the fine oak cabinet burned the wall-paper and the rug. The flames had reached the ceiling when the department arrived. Had it gone through the floor the whole building might have been doomed. There are several offices in the building and the Traveling Men's club upstairs contains pool tables and other valuable furniture. Legal How to the south would have been endangered.

Several thousand pamphlets which were to have been sent to Germany in the interests of the immigration movement were destroyed. Just a few days ago insurance was taken out on the furnishings of the Commercial club.

KIDNAPED

MURDER CHARGED DAUGHTER WITH EXTINGUISHING MONEY.

Says She Was Drugged and Guarded By Persecuted Dogs—Strangled With Table Cloth.

New York, June 23.—Mrs. Florence Astell, who as Miss Nesta Neilson was famous as an actress, and was a member of Lawrence Barrett's company, when that player was made defendant today in a suit instituted by her mother, Mrs. Anna D. Presby, of Stamford, Conn., who charges that Mrs. Astell and her husband not only abducted her from Wilton, near South Norwalk, Conn., brought her to this city and kept her drugged for three months, but in order to obtain $2,000 worth of diamonds and $12,000 worth of property, located in Johnsonburg, Penn., had dogs guard her.

The mother, who is 62 years old, also accuses the one-time stage favorite of stabbing her with a fork, thereby causing blood poisoning.

CONSPIRACY

MAY BE CHARGE AGAINST OFFICIALS OF STANDARD.

Prosecutions Under Elkins and Sherman Laws Are Certain To Be Instituted.

Washington, June 23.—Some of the wealthiest men in the United States may be sent to prison for conspiracy, if the program of the administration is carried out. The formal announcement of the purpose of the government to prosecute the Standard Oil company was made today by Attorney-General Moody. It appears from his statement that the proceedings in the first instance will be had under the Elkins law, which prohibits rebates in interstate commerce. The attorney-general, however, gives notice that in all probability, should the investigation justify it, he will let further action under the Sherman anti-trust law.

PANAMA DUTY CAUSES CLASH.

Denies Right to Import Tobacco Free Into Canal Zone.

Panama, June 23.—Serious differences may arise between the United States and the Republic of Panama regarding the right of the former to import into the canal zone commissaries' supplies of tobacco free of duty. Panama denies this right, claiming that tobacco is not an article of first necessity nor one required in canal construction. The last Panamanian assembly established a duty of $1 per pound on tobacco, practically prohibiting its importation.

DYNAMITE IS USED TO SAVE THE TOWN

Forty Families are Homeless At Golconda.

City in Darkness and Many People Have Lost All Their worldly Possessions.

WATER PLANT IS DESTROYED.

W. V. Schrenk, clerk of the steamer Royal, which runs between Golconda and Paducah, gave additional information about the disastrous fire there yesterday.

A gas tank in a laundry over the electric and water plants exploded setting that business on fire. A stiff wind was blowing toward the river and the flames got a good hold on some frame buildings near the water plant. At one time the fire was under control when a hose burst and exploded the night. After this dynamite was freely used to check the flames and was in a measure responsible for saving the town from total destruction.

Men became exhausted by the prolonged struggle and by the fierce heat and many fainted.

The fire was finally checked by the wall of the laundry store of G. Well, which not having any windows in it, placed a firm barrier to the flames.

The electric light plant was destroyed and last night the town was in complete darkness, candles and lamps being the only light obtainable.

The water plant was also destroyed early in the fire and probably made the fight harder from the weak pressure on the water main. These two plants are a total loss with no insurance.

The town was struck a blow, which will take years to overcome for there was little insurance and many men lost all they had. Forty families are homeless this morning. Thirty-seven houses not counting stables were burned.

The Joe Fowler was at the wharf at the time and had to back out into the river from the heat and sparks which were being blown toward the river. This morning the whole town is in a blue mood. Two saloons were in the city this morning to secure tents to put on their now vacant lots and in which they will resume business. There may be excursions run out to here tomorrow to view the ruins.

SALOONS CLOSE FOR FIVE HOURS

New Midnight Ordinance is Now the Law.

Mayor Signs Measure and Issues Instructions to Department of Police.

TAXATION EXEMPTION LAW.

Saloons must close at midnight tonight and remain closed until 5 o'clock Monday morning.

This is the edict sent forth from Mayor Velser's office and James Collins, chief of police, this morning received orders to that effect. Since the Sunday closing law operates at the birth of the new city ordinance there will be little change in usual order of things, but Monday night the lid goes on unsupported by state statutes.

"I signed the ordinance today," said Mayor Velser, "and I have given instructions to the police department to see that the law is enforced. The publication has nothing to do with the making the law operative. Of course, the ordinance must be published, but it is in force when the mayor signs it without immediate publication. The saloons must close promptly at 12 o'clock and can not open until 5 in the morning."

Mayor Velser also signed the ordinance exempting manufacturing concerns from city taxes for five years.

LIGHTNING BOLT

Burns Down House and Kills Little Boy at Beevesville, O.

Trammen on the Illinois Central noon train from Carbondale, Ill., report a fatal accident at Beevesville, Ill., fifteen miles back of Metropolis, on the Illinois Central this morning. Lightning struck a house, burned it down and a small boy was killed by the shock. He was standing near the house and received the full power of the bolt. He died in a few minutes after the flash came. No names were secured, and on account of wires being down no telephone or telegraphic communications could be secured.

LONDON SLAUGHTERHOUSES

Just as Bad as Chicago, Says the Review.

London, June 23.—The Review, usually anti-American in its expressions, in an article published today, points out that the slaughtering of diseased carcasses in small slaughterhouses in England is a common thing. The Review advocates the construction of public slaughter houses and said same places, where food is prepared in London, are quite as loathsome as in Chicago. These places are filthy in every way.

PAIR OF SPECTACLES

Cast Another Suspicion on Prisoner of City.

Mr. Gus Singleton took his spectacles off this morning and placed them in the case. The case was then carefully placed in his pocket but when the popular ex-councilman felt for them later found them not there. A search about the city hall, where he had taken them off, failed to reveal them. When George Frozier, colored, wanted for chicken stealing was taken to the jail from the city hall and searched the glasses were found on him.

BLOOD STAINED AX FOUND BY POLICE

Mother Arrested for Murder of Her Daughter.

Old Miser, in Whose House Were Found Stolen Goods, Prisoner in Her Own Home.

NEW YORK MYSTERY CLEARING.

New York, June 23.—Coroner Schwanecke announced today that the aged mother of Mrs. Louise Alice Kinna who was killed on her porch a week ago, is under arrest. She is guarded by the police matron and two detectives and although her residence is her prison she is as much in danger as if she were in the Tomba.

The finding of a blood stained ax hidden under a pile of rubbish led to the action by the coroner whereby the old woman is a prisoner. In the opinion of Coroner Schwanecke this is overwhelming evidence that the murderer of Mrs. Kinna was committed to a member of the Stenton household.

The coroner and Detective Sergeant Price hurried to the Miller residence this evening and spent several hours with the aged prisoner, endeavoring to get a confession from her. On the belief that the ax was the property of the aged miser, they are confident that she cannot hold on much longer and that a startling confession will be wrung from her in another day at least.

Household Was Desperate.
In proving the desperate character of the household it was recalled that a few days ago in a secret chamber were found bank books for nearly $30,000 together with five trunks of valuable articles, such as silverware, with department store tags still on them, indicating that shoplifting was the trade of the trunks' owner.

Mrs. Stenton was once a woman of high social standing and comes from one of the old and aristocratic families of New York. In former days she entertained much and Commodore Vanderbilt was frequently her guest.

The blood-stained ax which undoubtedly was wielded by Mrs. Kinna's slayer, was hidden in such a way as to show that the debris covering it was disturbed quite recently. The handle is about three feet long and the head is square and, according to the coroner, would fit the indentation in the murdered woman's skull.

INJURED MEN

NOT IN DANGER, BUT GORDON IS CONFINED TO BED.

William Sines, Whose Foot was Amputated, is Resting Well at Riverside Hospital.

Sam Gordon, the driver, who jumped or was knocked from the No. 2 ice wagon of the G. W. Robertson company yesterday morning when a street car struck it, is seriously injured and cannot leave his bed. Gordon ailed in such a way as to injure his hips. He was able to walk about for several hours, but finally his back began to hurt and he was forced to take to his bed.

An examination late yesterday afternoon showed him to be suffering from a sprained back, and the extent of the injury cannot be told for several days.

William Sines, whose left foot was crushed so that amputation was necessary, is resting well in Riverside. The young man stood the operation well, and it is thought the injury will not develop complications.

BECKHAM

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR UNITED STATES SENATE.

Frankfort, Ky., June 23.—Gov. Beckham today made formal announcement of his candidacy in the primary to be held over the state on the day of the regular election in November next for the Democratic nomination to succeed James B. ## RETURN BIBLE AFTER 30 YEARS feature of alumni day today at the University of Michigan was the return of the old chapel Bible which mysteriously disappeared thirty years ago, by the class of 1876. It seems that one night in '76 the senior mischievously locked a decrepit old horse in the chapel. Fearing that the horse might chew the pages of the Bible, they took the book away with them to preserve it. The affair then aroused such a storm in college that nobody dared to return the book.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 23.—The Michigan Class of '70 Clear Up Old University Mystery.

THE BRIDGE PLAYERS OMAR.

Come, deal the hands, and forth the score-cards bring.
Bridge is the rage, the fashion and the thing.
What though the house is left to keep itself?
What though the Cook and Maid are on the wing?

Whether in Oshkosh or in Oregon,
Whether for cash, for prizes or for fun,
The bridge clubs grow more numerous day by day
The hooks on bridge keep getting one by one.

Each moon a dozen bridge teams
brings, you say,
But where's the duplicate whist of yesterday?
And the next fad that strikes the social world
May sweep both game and rubber quite away.

The moving penel writes, and, having writ,
There stands the score—and no excusing wit,
No loud post-mortem can its figures change,
Your only safety is to play to it.

A pair of ten-spots underneath the bough,
An ace, knave, nine, a lonely king and thon,
With all the other face-cards in the pack—
Ah! such no-trumps are paradise now!
—Priscilla Leonard in July Harper's Bazaar.

Society at the Chautauqua.

All roads have led to the Chautauqua this week, the broad highway of pleasure and the narrow by-path of learning alike have verged that way, and they have been main-traveled roads too, for "most everybody" has sought the shade of the big white tent at Wallace park, and all social pleasure has merged there. Even morning bridge whist has been held in abeyance to Dr. Krebs, few have been the evening functions that proved more fascinating than "Liquid Air" "Wireless Telegraphy" and other popular features, while Miss Hemenway has made impounds on the afternoon engagements of either sex. The program has been varied enough to suit the taste of all and no one has been bored.

Only the weather has behaved unusually, but even that has not interfered unduly and white shoes and flowing costumes have been ruthlessly offered to appease the weather god. Picnics, diners and suppers have been the fad, many parties remaining from service to service in this way. It is very evident that the Chautauqua has come to stay and will be a welcome abiding guest. With a more seasonable June there will be much camping on the ground and it will be Paducah's universal outing week.

Heart Taken Out and Washed.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 23.—To have his heart taken out and the paricles of sand washed from it as it beat, and still survive, has been the experience of C. A. McCartney, a Pasadena contractor. While riding a motorcycle he came in collision with a hay wagon, and a wooden rake prong pierced his breast. The surgeons found that particles of sand from the road had been driven into the wound so far as the heart. They took that organ out, washed it thoroughly and then replaced it. The other internal injuries were attended to, the cavity in the body sewed up, and the indications are that McCarty will recover.

—The Dick Fowler left at 8 o'clock this morning for Cairo and way points and will be due to return to night at 8 o'clock.

The towboat Ameries arrived from the Muskegon shoals today with a tow of ties, and left on the return trip with 100 tons of sand.

The calliope on the Emerson showboat was playing vigorously yesterday, so much so that Saunders Fowler, who was trying to do some long distance telephoning, suddenly became a law-abiding citizen, and telephoned Capt. Brown, wharfmaster, to apply the Mayor's order against loud and prolonged whistling. (Mr. Fowler is interested in several boats whose hideous whistling is music to his ears). Capt. Brown thought the calliope might not come under the law because it was music. The captain of the Cowling, seeing in that a technically which might enable his boat to vent its surplus steam energy, suggested that a calliope be placed on top of the wharf-boat with a pipe running down for the boats to connect with. This is a scheme which would furnish the city with music at all hours of the day and night, the only practical difficulty in the way being the absence of a player for the calliope.

Four fleets of coal arrived in the Cairo harbor yesterday and all tied up here. The Harry Brown with 33 barges arrived at 4 a.m. and took six barges to St. Louis, leaving at 11 a.m. The John A. Wood came out with 28 pieces at 4:30 a.m., the Pacific with 27 pieces arrived at 5 a.m. and the Fred Hartweg with 16 pieces arrived later in the day. All these went to the bank here and will take a fresh start today.—Cairo Bulletin.

Weighty Professional Endorsements.

That the several American medicinal roots, the concentrated glycerine extracts of which make up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, have the strongest kind of endorsement by scores of leading medical writers of all the several schools of practice, a brief glance at the standard works on Materia Medica will show. Of Golden Seal root, which is one of the prominent ingredients of "Golden Medical Discovery," Dr. Robert Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, says: "Very useful as a stomachic (stomach) tonic and in atonic dyspepsia. Cures gastric (stomach) catarrh and headaches accompanying same." He also mentions catarrh of the gall duct, jaundice and constipation as diseases which the use of Golden Seal root overcomes; also catarrh of the intestines, even when it has proceeded to ulceration, is remarkably benefited by Hydrastis (Golden Seal root).

Dr. Grover Coe, of New York, says: "Hydrastis (Golden Seal root) exerts an especial influence over mucous surfaces. Upon the liver it acts with equal certainty and efficacy. As a chologogue (liver invigorator) it has few equals." Dr. Coe also advises it for affections of the spleen and other abdominal viscera generally, and for serous and glandular diseases, entacoma eruptions, indigestion, debility, chronic diarrhea, constipation, also in several affections peculiar to women, and in all chronic derangements of the liver; also for chronic inflammation of bladder, for which Dr. Coe says "it is one of the most reliable agents of cure."

Prof. Hobart A. Hare, M. D., of the University of Pa., says of Golden Seal root that it is "of service in chronic catarrh of the stomach and bowels, following abuse of alcohol, and as a tonic after malarial fever." He further says, "it has a distinct anti-malarial influence." Also "good in all catarrhal conditions, as uterine catarrh, leucorrhœa, etc., and as a curative agent in chronic dyspepsia."

Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., of the Medical Department, University City of N. Y., is equally loud in his praise of Golden Seal root, especially for its tonic effects in convalescence from acute diseases and its special tonic influence upon mucous surfaces and upon the gall bladder.

Doctors Barton and Tully recommended Golden Seal root as a pure tonic and as an alternative in diseased conditions of the mucous membranes.

Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, author of the AMERICAN DISPENSATORY, gives it a prominent place among medicinal agents, reiterates all the foregoing writers have said about it, as does also Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati. Dr. Scudder says: "It stimulates the digestive processes and increases the assimilation of food. By these means the blood is enriched, the consequent improvement on the glandular and nervous systems are natural results." Dr. Scudder further says, "in relation to its general effect upon the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

EXPLORATIONS OF HUDSON.

To Be Celebrated On River Bearing
His Name in 1909.

Plans for the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of Henry Hudson's exploration of the river which bears his name, and the one hundredth anniversary of that river by steam by Robert Fulton, took tangible shape yesterday at a meeting of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Executive committee, presided over by Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, the chairman. It was decided the celebration should take place the week beginning September 20, 1909, and that instead of a temporary "world's fair," there shall be "delicate monuments works of lasting benefit to the people. The first day of the celebration, it is arranged, shall be given over to a naval parade of aquatic pageant up the Hudson river, in which the navies of the world shall be invited to participate as well as all manner of merchant and pleasure craft. The second day will be marked by a land parade and literary, historical and musical exercises. The third day, it is proposed, shall be devoted to the dedication of memorials.

SPORTSMEN'S DAY IS JULY FOURTH

Rifle and Revolver Club Plan
An Open Shoot.

Many Outsiders Will Take Advantage of Opportunity to Participate In Event.

WILL CONTEST FOR PRIZES.

July Fourth will be a big day for sportsmen in Paducah, who enjoy rifle and pistol target shooting. It will mark one of the biggest open competition shoots ever held in Paducah.

The shoot is being arranged by the Paducah Rifle and Revolver club and the promoters intend to make it the biggest open competition shoot ever held here. Prizes will be offered and an entrance fee charged. It is expected that over a hundred sportsmen will participate in the shooting, this being the latest fad in marksmanship.

Mr. Fred McCreary is one of the officers in the club and stated that matches of all distances will be arranged and that everyone who can and will shoot is invited. There are marksmen in Paducah who are not in the club and who would like to shoot but are barred because of the fact that outsiders can not participate in strictly club affairs. This will give them an opportunity to show their skill, and some excellent work is expected.

GENERAL BAPTIST ASSOCIATION
—RICHMOND, KENTUCKY.

On account of the General Association of Kentucky Baptists the Southern Railway will sell excursion tickets from stations on its line in Kentucky to Richmond on June 21 and 22, with final return limit of July 5, 1905, at rate of one fare plus 25 cents for the round trip. The Southern Railway has two trains daily for Richmond in connection with the L. & A. railroad from Versailles. It is expected that all of the Baptist delegation will leave Louisville at 3 p. m. June 26, reaching Richmond at 8:05 p. m. same date.

If desired this train can be taken at Fourth avenue at 3:50 p. m. This party will be joined by italians from Shively, Lawrenceburg and at other points en route. It is expected that the party will be sufficiently large so that arrangements can be made to run coaches through from Louisville to Richmond without change. This train leaving Louisville at 3:30 p. m. is a daily train. Morning train leaves Louisville at 6:30 a. m. daily reaching Richmond at 11:15 a. m.

A number of Baptists from Owensboro and other points in the western part of the state will also join the party, leaving Louisville on the 26th.

THE MAN ON THE BOX

By HAROLD MACGRATH

Author of "The Grey Gatsby," "The Puppet Master."

Copyright, 1906, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

The colonel grew rigid in his chair. "Do not misunderstand me. Before I saw her, you were but the key to what I desired. As her father the master took on a personal side, I could not very conscientiously make love to your daughter and at the same time—Karloff left the sentence incomplete.

"And Betty?"—in half a whisper.

"She refused me,"—quietly. "But I have not given her up; no, I have not given her up."

"What do you mean to do?"

Karloff got up and walked about the room. "Make her my wife,"—simply. He stooped and studied the titles of some of the books in the cases. He turned to find that the colonel had risen and was facing him with flaming eyes.

"I demand to know how you intend to accomplish this end," the colonel said. "My daughter shall not be dragged into this trap."

"To-morrow night I shall explain everything; to-night, nothing,"—imperturbably.

"Karloff, to-night I stand a ruined and dishonored man. My head, once held so proudly before my fellow-men, is bowed with shame. The country I have fought and bled for I have in part betrayed. Not for my gain, not for my gain. No, no! Think God that I can say that! Personal greed has not tainted me. Alone, I should have gone serenely into some poorhouse and eked out an existence on my half-pay. But this child of mine, whom I love doubly, for her mother's sake and her own,—I would gladly cut off both arms to spare her a single pain, to keep her in the luxury which she still believes rightfully to be hers. When the fever of gambling possessed me, I should have told her, I did not; therein lies my mistake, the mistake which has brought me to this horrible end. Virginia sacrificed his child to save her; I will sacrifice my honor to save mine from poverty. Force her to wed a man she does not love? No. To-morrow night we shall complete this disgraceful bargain. The plans are all finished but one. Now leave me; I wish to be alone."

"Sir, it is my deep regret—"

"Go; there is nothing more to be said."

Karloff withdrew. He went soberly. There was nothing sneering nor contemptuous in his attitude. Indeed, there was a frown of pity on his face. He recognized that circumstances had dragged down a noble man; that chance had tricked him of his honor. How he hated his own evil plan! He squared his shoulders, determined once more to put it to the touch to win or lose it all.

He found her at the bow-window, staring up at the moon. As I remarked this room was dark, and she did not instantly recognize him.

"I am moon-gazing," she said.

"Let me nigh for it with you. Perhaps together we may bring it down." There was something very pleasing in the quality of his tone.

"Ah, it is you, Count? I could not see. But let us not sigh for the moon; it would be useless. Does any one get his own wish-moon? Does it not always hang so high, so far away?"

"The music has affected you?"

"As it always does. When I hear a voice like madam's, I grow sad, and a pity for the great world surges over me."

"Pity is the invisible embrance which enfolds all animate things. There is pity for the wretched, for the fool, for the innocent knave, for those who are criminals by their own folly; pity for those who love without reward; pity that embraces . . . even me."

Silence.

"Has it ever occurred to you that there are two beings in each of us; that between these two there is a continual conflict, and that the victor finally prints the victory on the face? For what linen and haggard a man's face but the victory of the evil that is in him? For what makes aged ruddy and smooth of face and clear of eye but the victory of the good that is in him? It is so. I still love you; I still have the courage to ask you to be my wife. Shall there be faces haggard or ruddy, lined or smooth?"

She stepped inside. She did not comprehend all he said, and his face was in the shadow—that is to say, unrended.

"I am sorry, very, very sorry."

"How easily you say that!"

"No, not easily; if only you knew how hard it comes, for I know that it inflicts a hurt,"—gently. "Ah, Count, why indeed do I not love you?"—impulsively, for at that time she held him in genuine regard. "You represent all that a woman could desire in a man."

"You could learn,"—with an eager step toward her.

"You do not believe that; you know that you do not. Love has nothing to learn; the heart speaks, and that is all. My heart does not speak when I see you, and I shall never marry a man to whom it does not. You ask for something which I can not give, and each time you ask only adds to the pain."

"This is finality?"

"It is."

"Eh, well; then I must continue on to the end."

She interpreted this as a plaint of his coming loneliness.

"Here!" she said. She held in her hands two red roses. She thrust one toward him. "That is all I may give you."

For a moment he hesitated. There were thorns, invisible and stinging.

"Take it!"

He accepted it, kissed it gravely, and said.

"This is the bitterest moment in my life, and doubly because I love you."

When the portiere fell behind him, she locked her hands, grieved that all she could give him was an ephemeral flower. How many men had turned from her in this wise, even as she began to depend upon them for their friendship! The dark room oppressed her and she stepped out once more into the silver of moonshine. Have you ever beheld a lovely woman fondle a lovely rose? She drew it, pendent on its slender stem, slowly across the room and Warburton caught it.

"I've a notion you might attempt to take it by force in case I refused."

"I surrendered it peacefully enough, sir."

"So you did. Here." The colonel tossed the flower across the room and Warburton caught it.

"I should like to know, sir, if you are going to expose me. It's no more than I deserve."

The colonel studied the lithographs on the walls. "Your selection?"—with a wave of the hand.

"No, sir. I should like to know what you are going to do. It would relieve my mind. As a matter of fact, I confess that I am growing weary of the usual," Warburton waited.

"You make a very respectable butler, though,"—musingly.

"Shall you expose me, sir?"—persistently.

"No lad, I should not want it to get about that a former officer of mine could possibly make such an ass of himself. You have slept all night in jail, you have groomed horses, you are being improved in streets and in buildings and it is noticeable particularly in the night by the hundreds of red lights warning to pedestrians and vehicles.

All the principal thoroughfares are being torn up in the business portion of the town from Broadway one square north and south, and red shaded lanterns are used as signal lights. There are probably more of these lights out in Paducah at this particular time than ever before. This is due especially to the action of the police, who report all street obstructions.

This morning in police court several cases were brought for violation of the ordinance pertaining to this matter, and all contractors are exercising caution in the proper protection of contracts they are fulfilling.

The warrant against The Sun was dismissed, as the contractor was held to be at fault.

An ordinance to prevent persons from keeping open places for sale of liquors within certain hours, or from selling or furnishing such liquors within such hours.

Be it ordained by the General Council of the City of Paducah:

First. It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in the business of selling spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in the City of Paducah, or the agent or employee of such person, to keep open or carry on such business, or to sell or furnish to or for any person any such liquors, between the hour of 12 o'clock midnight and the hour of 5 o'clock a.m. of any day.

Second. Any person violating this ordinance shall be fined not less than ten nor more than twenty-five dollars for each offense.

Third. This ordinance shall take effect from its passage, approval and publication.

RAILROAD NOTES

Big Freight Business.

The Illinois Central Railroad company is enjoying probably the biggest summer business on the Louisville, Nashville and Tennessee divisions of the system in the history of the road, and the magnitude of the business can readily be seen in Paducah. There are more switch engines working now than ever before in the history of the city. More trains are being run out of Paducah at this season than ever before and full crews are working overtime. Reports show that a total of 22 freight trains went out of Paducah yesterday. Fifteen went south and eleven went north. This is not counting passenger trains, which would swell the total number of trains leaving Paducah to something like double that number. The Illinois Central is enjoying a big business and this summer probably will mark a record in summer business for the road. Part of the increase is due to the opening of the territory acquired by the creation of the Nashville division of the road, which took in the Tennessee Central road.

Surprised Him.

James H. McDonald, of Florence Station, ten miles below Paducah on the Illinois Central, this morning made his first inspection of railroad shops. He has been residing near Florence for more than 50 years and has never before today been in or seen the shops except from a distance, and then never more than the smokestack. "Yes sir, this is my first close view of the shops," he declared, as he was piloted through the wood working shops by Officer Dick Tolbert, of the Illinois Central, "and I think they are wonderful. In fact, I can't find words to express my surprise at the sight. I have lived in this section of the country for more than fifty years. I hunted squirrels and birds in the woods where these shops are now located, and I was here before the shops were even thought of. My curiosity overcame me when I struck town today, and it being rainy I decided to see what was in them."

Caught Tree Frogs.

A joke is going the rounds in the Illinois Central shops and is causing George Housdant, foreman of the wood working shops, and Will Theobold, a car repairman no end of embarrassment. They went to Starlight lake in Ballard county last night to hunt frogs. They returned this morning and had three tree frogs and one flying squirrel. It is stated that Mr. Housdant thought the tree frogs were bull frogs, which had come out on the bank, and hooked them in with his patent frog hooks. He brought them home with him but discovered that he made any mistake as to the species of the frogs.

M. J. King, a well known pipe fitter employed by the Illinois Central, has resigned and will go to Louisville to work.

Joe Walker, foreman of the Illinois Central round house, is out again after a several days illness.

William Pike and James Keegan, of the Illinois Central shops this morning returned from Morganfield Ky., where they set up the city lighting plant. An L. C. box car got loose and ran into the plant damaging it to a great extent. The machinery was sent here and repaired and the two gentlemen sent to Morganfield to
